

24. "Sputnik in the Sky" (by Robert Hotz), Aviation Week & Space Technology, October 14, 1957, p. 21.
25. "USAF Pushes Pied Piper Space Vehicle," Aviation Week & Space Technology, October 14, 1957, p. 26.
26. "Memorandum For the Chairman, Subject: Chairman's Request For Information on Pied Piper Change of Name," from Director Division of Reactor Development AEC, February 24, 1958. (From DOE archives.)
27. James R. Killian, Sputnik, Scientists and Eisenhower (Cambridge & London: The MIT Press, 1977), p. 119. (Emphasis in original.)
28. Ibid., pp. 144-145.
29. Quoted in ibid., p. 140 (from a private memoir written by Dr. Keith Glennan).
30. Description of SNAP-1 and SNAP-3 concepts and developments taken from SNAP . . . Press Kit, op. cit., ("Attachment 4, History. . .," pp. 2-3). (From DOE archives.)
31. Information on radioisotope sales from Twenty-third Semi-annual Report of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office, January 1958), p. 158.

CHAPTER III

1. John M. Logsdon, The Decision to Go to the Moon: Project Apollo and the National Interest (Cambridge, Mass., and London, England: The MIT Press 1970) p. 13.
2. Ibid.
3. Homer E. Newell, Beyond The Atmosphere (Washington: National Aeronautics and Space Administration, 1980), p. 89.
4. Ibid., pp. 95-96.
5. Ibid.