

Office of Scientific and Technical Information U.S. Department of Energy

Our Mission: Supporting the Science Mission

- Department of Energy invests $7 billion annually in R&D
- Principal output from R&D is scientific and technical information
- Scientific and technical information (recorded in journals or reports) serves the science mission and researcher needs
- Using Information Age technology, STI is reaching more people—at a lower cost per person served

