OpenNet

DECLASSIFIED

Declassified Department of Energy Documents

OpenNet provides easy, timely access to recently declassified documents, including information declassified in response to Freedom of Information Act requests. In addition to these documents, OpenNet references older document collections from several DOE sources. This database is updated regularly as more information becomes available.

Office of Classification

Opennet is intended to make information that is no longer classified more readily available to the public.

- Check the OpenNet home page periodically to see what is being spotlighted, such as document collections that have been added to the OpenNet database, or new policy documents.
- There are over 139,000 fully searchable documents, and over 481,000 searchable citations to documents in the OpenNet database.
- The OpenNet database supports the openness in Government initiative.
- OpenNet includes documents declassified and determined to be publicly available since October 1, 1994.
