

AEC Laboratory Addition, October 18, 1956.

Looking north-west, photo shows coping in place on walls running along three sides of new structure. Roof, concealed by parapet wall, is in place. Inside partitions, not shown, are also completed. Six windows in the low structure in the foreground are in the new structure. The dividing line between old and new construction is visible by the difference in shade along the vertical junction line.