REMARKS
I refer to your question as to the reasons for our reiterated statement to Dr. Johnson and others. Col. Duff, Atomic Support Branch, Director of supply and services of the Air Force tells me that they have stopped ALL construction of magazines, using concrete deviding walls, in the '63 and subsequent programs and that they must publish guidance, in the form of definitives, of the new earth covered design. They, quite naturally, desire that all outstanding questions relative to the earth covered structure be answered before they go in to such a large investment. Their interest centers on certain specific questions relative to spacing to insure against propogation, but it would be very serious to them if they were to design for a Pu factor of 2 and then found that it should have been 1 or 3. As you can see, this problem is close inboard as far as they are concerned, and I think that no matter how we push experimentation they will have to start construction with present knowledge. ~~XXXXXX~~ Even though they start their building program, the sooner answers are obtained, the sooner further compounding of errors is prevented.

Within the U. S. alone the sites involved for the national guard alone are:

Portland International Air Port & Portland Ore
 Truax - Madison Wis.
 Burlington Vermont
 Gore Field Montana
 Hector Field South Dakota.

In sum, I dont think we have to be travelling at a dead run but a good spanking trot is indicated.
