Dear Doctor:

Your excellent article, recently published, has been selected by our editors for digesting and publication in a future issue of Medical Digest.

All of the digests appearing in Medical Digest are supplied to us by the original authors and we would be grateful if you would abstract your article and have it typed in the space provided on the back of this letter.

Although we attempt to publish all abstracts returned by authors, a small percentage may not be used because of unforeseen space limitations.

Medical Digest is distributed free of charge to all family physicians in private practice and residents in this field in the United States. Its cardinal value is to keep its 37,500 readers informed of the world's current medical literature. Therefore, we would appreciate your returning your abstract to us in the enclosed envelope within 30 days.

Kindly note corrections, if any, in your address above, and in the title and other information noted on the reverse of this letter.

Sincerely yours,

Wallace E. Herrell
