Dear Al:

The last of the histories arrived and let me say it is greatly appreciated. We are studying each page as though it were a literary masterpiece and you would be surprized how much information we are getting that is pertinent from notes which do not seem frequently to be very revelant.

As Tad no doubt told you we have need for additional information, that is information of the same kind, about other patients. In view of the fact xeroxing is somewhat slow and we are in need of the information as soon as possible may I suggest to you the possibility of microfilming. This can be done with extreme rapidity and I think with much more simplicity than can xeroxing and if the negative could then be sent to us we can develop the prints as needed or the negative read directly. I realize that this is the Christmas Season and it is often very difficult for things to be accomplished but if there is any way that you could get us the histories on the list which I am enclosing with this letter by or about the 15th of January. It would be of enormous assistance to us in getting our report to the AEC on the time schedule we have jointly set with them. This list includes those which Tad requested. Twelve additional patients remain and you might wish to do it all at once. These twelve are labeled subsequent list.

We are looking forward to a good family reunion over Christmas time and I wonder if Chick, his wife and baby will be with you. We
