Topics we've discussed

- How do we know whether we are meeting the needs of our research and mission communities?
- How do we bring in the voice of the researchers and engineers into our improvement projects?
- How are research and mission needs integrated with the IT investment & funding cycles?
- How do we represent customers in daily operations tasks?
- How should we be structured to best meet customer needs?

Panel

Sandia National Laboratories

- Phil Kuhlman
 - 26+ years at Sandia
 - 20+ years in Enterprise IT
 - 2.5 years as BRM lead – initiating BRM at Sandia
- Key takeaway:
 - We're really all solving the same problems and struggling with the same issues.
- Key value from the collaboration:
 - Visibility into how peers at other labs have engaged with their executive leadership, both on the mission and IT sides.
