

Is your IT organizations struggling to integrate and implement solutions in a unified manner resulting in inconsistent delivery of products and services to the customer?

Current industry leaders (e.g. Google, Amazon, Microsoft) have created or employed certain practices resulting in maximized efficiency, confidence, fidelity and integrity for their output.

This presentation bestows a reusable model for organizations to use as an approach to DevOps based on industry best practices.